

I agree with the FISTS Petition. Morse code can get communications through when other modes, such as SSB or digital, can not. Since one goal of the Amateur Radio Service is to provide communication in times of national need, we should not dispense with a requirement those who wish to be licensed have at least a basic familiarity with something which could be essential in time of emergency.